THE PUMP ROOM, BATH

NEAREST STATION: Bath Spa

The Grand Pump Room was built in the early 1790s, and soon became the destination for high society to meet and ‘take the waters’ from the hot springs while enjoying lavish entertainment. Famous authors such as Jane Austen mentioned it in her novels Northanger Abbey and Persuasion, as where “every creature in Bath was to be seen...”. And Mary Shelley wrote the iconic Frankenstein while staying in lodgings next door. Over 200 years later, most of the neo-classical style and Georgian features remain unchanged – creating the perfect ambience in which to enjoy the quintessentially English custom of afternoon tea.

OUR HERITAGE

A one-of-a-kind Champagne bar in historic St Pancras Station. Bars and restaurants set in two World Heritage sites. And one of London's first skyscraper restaurants. Searcys has long been known as a market-leader, for our bold concepts and enduring creative spirit.

JOHN SEARCY

1837 marked the year Princess Victoria ascended to the throne. It was also the year the Duke and Duchess of Northumberland employed a new confectioner at their home in Alnwick Castle – John Searcy. Catering for the Duke and Duchess required skill and artistry that few people possessed. High society and royalty made up this prestigious party crowd, who consistently expected the best.

His talent was undeniable and ended up catching the attention of many guests. Realising how sought after he really was, he spoke with the Duke and Duchess about starting up his very own catering company. After 10 years of service, he wanted his skills and confections to be enjoyed by others outside of Alnwick Castle. The Duke and Duchess both agreed, and even loaned him money to help start him off.

He quickly gained esteemed clientele from London and the surrounding area, and was asked to cater to weddings as well as parties, from the cake to the wedding breakfast.

In 1870, John Searcy & Sons received a Royal Warrant from the Prince of Wales – a mark of recognition for the company's outstanding service. Each event they held was an intricate performance, designed to entertain and amaze guests. It is these same values for dining and entertaining that we uphold today, in an effort to be as consistently exceptional as John Searcy was.

OUR FOOD

MODERN

Contemporary in style, but using traditional methods, never fussy.

BRITISH

Using the very best of British produce and flavours, but never afraid to punctuate this with worldly influences.

SOCIAL

Dishes and concepts that bring people together. Sometimes designed to be shared, always meant to be a conduit for conversation.

SEASONAL

Using seasonal flavours our chefs create fabulous feasts, as well as lighter and more interactive options.

OUR DRINKS

CHAMPAGNE

We take great pride in pouring our private label range. Looking to our rich heritage in the champagne industry, we took a hands-on approach when working with the renowned Maison Burtin in Épernay to produce our Searcys Selected Cuvée.

ENGLISH SPARKLING WINES

UK winemakers are producing some stunning sparkling wines. We are keen supporters of these amazing British wineries who demonstrate an obsession with excellence, attention to detail and who are producing wines of an outstanding quality.

COCKTAILS AND MOCKTAILS

Our own mixologists have developed a range of events cocktails, including the English mojito and redcurrant negroni.

TEA AND COFFEE

Searcys events tea selection, from a British independent tea company Clipper Tea, is Fairtrade and organic, sourced from farmers around the world.

Searcys coffee is a unique blend roasted by Extract Coffee Roasters from Bristol. Each batch is roasted and checked by hand.

Searcys coffee is supplied by a family of coffee farmers in Colombia and an organic cooperative of smallholders growing incredible coffee on the mountains of Peru.

OUR SUSTAINABILITY PLEDGES

We have partnered with Drappier, the world's first carbon-neutral Champagne house

We celebrate English sparkling wines, working closely with Nyetimber, Greyfriars and Furleigh Estate

Our house beer is supplied by Freedom Brewery, the only beer recommended by the Sustainable Restaurant Association

Our signature smoked salmon is caught and smoked at a family-run smokehouse on the edge of Aberdeen harbour

We only use pole and line-caught tuna, which is a sustainable fishing method used to catch tuna, one fish at a time

All our fresh and frozen prawns are Marine Stewardship Council-certified

Up to 90% of seasonal fruit and veg on our menus are British

We only use British-harvested rapeseed oil in cooking

We champion local produce, with all fresh fruit, vegetables, cheese and dairy coming within 48-mile radius from our venues

We celebrate signature seasonal English apples at all our cafes. We offer a free bowl with all our meetings packages

Our bespoke chocolates have been created by William Curley, four-times winner of Best British Chocolatier title

All our cooking chocolate is organic, Fairtrade and Rainforest Alliance-certified

All our teas are ethically and responsibly sourced

Our coffee comes from an organic cooperative of smallholders in Peru and from family-run single estates in Guatemala and Colombia

We offer KeepCups, a sustainable alternative to disposable cups. There is enough plastic in 20 disposable cups and lids to make 1 KeepCup

We have set ourselves a target to reduce food waste by 20%, with disposable packaging audit by the specialist NGO

Our nominated charity is Beyond Food, a social enterprise that helps those who are most at risk of homelessness to gain meaningful employment in hospitality

All our venues offer free tap water. Our bottled water is Belu. It is ethically-sourced and carbon-neutral, with all of its profits donated to WaterAid

All our fresh eggs are British free-range

We only source British meat and poultry free-range

All our bacon is British-reared and dry-cured

All our milk is British Red Tractor-certified

We only use British-milled flour

By using the freshest, best-quality ingredients sourced responsibly from local suppliers, we create a better experience for our customers, the community, and in ways that benefit the environment
